GROSS MISREPRESENTATION IN A CHICAGO PAPER

Barely does it fall to our lot to call attento to such gross misrepresentation of facts. It is ever easy for an editor to overlook the import of matter admitted to his columns in the rush inseparable from the production of a big daily, but that in itself is not a sufficient excuse for allowing the publication of a letter which is so grossly and obviously untrue. Why the writer should specifically mention Dina, is not clear, but we are sure that our many good friends in Dina will by no means be gratified at the unwarranted distinction given them.

We trust that The Chicago Herald and Examiner will in future examine its letters more closely and herald only the truth.

Editor Herald and Examiner:
Sir—I desire to call attention to the efforts that our neighbors, the Canadians, are making through the country town newspapers to stampede our unsuspecting farmers and soldiers to their long and flowery advertisements.

First is the school system, equal to any in the world. But the school-house is painfully conspicuous by its absence. In 1915 I spent four months of spring to November 1st travelling among the American farmers, reporting crop conditions. I travelled about 4,000 miles by rail auto and otherwise, and in all that time I could not find the place of one hundred school-houses in eight.

There are no country school-houses in western Canada.

With one exception, the settlement around the post office of Dina, Alberta, is mostly of Norwegians engaged in dairying and milk farming. All Americans that I talked with had been in the United States if they had anything to get back with after spending from six to eight years in west Canada farming.

And I heard reliable business men say that many occupants of the ready made farms in the irrigated districts were obliged to move in the night.

THOS. J. WALSH,
Shullsburg, Wis.

GOOD TIMES WERE ENJOYED AT WHIST DRIVE, MONDAY

The whist drive held Monday evening in aid of the funds of the Sacred Heart (Church was a very great success, and was enjoyed by all present, young and old, male and female, all being a large crowd, and a happy one. Soon every table was filled with players and the competition became keen.

At intervals during the evening, selections of orchestra and pianoforte music were rendered by visitors from Watnivick, and local artists. The comic song, in French, being received with loud applause. Refreshments were served, after which the prizes were distributed.

(We hope to publish the full list of winners next week, if the promoters will furnish same)

Prize records are here. Come in and hear them. Double faced records still so, only 45 a cent. Can you beat it?

FALSE RUMOUR CIRCULATES

Monday afternoon, Chauvin was alarmed by a rumor that Rene John Dalvin had died suddenly. Enquiries proved the rumor to be baseless.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Messrs Parcels and Foxwell shipped a carload of choice cattle last week end.

W. Johnston has made good progress with the erection of his new house.

A. J. Sathers left for Tete Jaune recently. He is expected back next week.

Alf Chapman was a visitor in Chauvin for a few days last week.

Bert Atkins left for Calgary, Friday. He expects to receive his discharge from the army.

Thirty guests were present at the surprise party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Cahill on Wednesday evening last.

We are wondering dairymen arrive just when he was watering the milk.

Mr. John Jones, and Mrs. Richard Jones returned to Badger, Minn. having spent eight months visiting in the district. Mr. Jones intends purchasing an outfit of horses and will return to farm in this district.

We are glad to note that one of the ladies of this district has received the honor of being elected a director of the Alberta Fairs and Institutes Association. Mrs. T. H. Armour receiving the highest number of votes.

The action of the directors of the Lealholme Telephone Company in donating a fully-paid share, worth $40 to the Prosperity school is to be commended. We have no doubt that the trustees of the school will accept the same and at an early date purchase and instal their wire and instrument.

The Grada Growers got a small mixed load shipped by A. Guy, from the Grada. Also sent a car and a half of cattle from Chauvin.

Arthur Belanger has returned from a trip around the country north of Edmonton. Whilst away he arranged for the delivery of some cars of choice seed oats.

Your attention is directed to an advertisement appearing in another column relative to Dominion Income War Tax Act and its requirements.

We are glad to see A. J. Robinson back again in our midst. Whilst at Edmonton he suffered from the "Flu".

L. B. Nicholson was a business visitor to Chauvin, Monday.

Mrs. D. W. Jarrels has returned after a short vacation.

H. Johnson has purchased some of the Marquis wheat offered for sale by T. Armour.

The arrival of several cars of seed oats is being advertised in these columns.

What kind of a crop will we have this year? Is the universal question—Why a good one, of course.

We are informed that pork will be scarce in this district next summer. It is likely that pork will have to be shipped in to meet local demands.

Meanwhile our local butchers are selling dressed pork at a discount. They had to kill a carload, owing to a sudden drop in the markets.

LEALHOLME TELEPHONE DIRECTORS MEETING

A meeting of the directors of the held Monday, February 24th.

Most important among the business was the drafting of bye-laws of the company and of a set of rules for the operation of the phone.

Defects in the service were considered and all necessary arrangements made for their rectification.

The directors voted a free fully-paid-up share to the Prosperity school.

Chas. Ryall was authorized to have the bye-laws and rules printed.

The meeting then adjourned.

MR. TINLINE WILL ADDRESS INSTITUTE MEETING

Every one should hear Mr. M. J. Tinline, B.S.A. who will address a meeting of farmers and their wives and families in the Odd Fellows Hall, Chauvin March 7th at 8 p.m. It being the Institute meeting of the Chauvin Agriculture Society.

Mr. Tinline's address should prove one of great interest and instruction, as he is the superintendent of the Scott Experimental Farm, which is only sixty miles from this district. He is therefore well acquainted with our climate and other conditions. All who possibly can should make a point of being present.

U. S. WHEAT GUARANTEE BILL READY

Washington, March 4.—The administration wheat guarantee bill was completed tonight, with the adoption of the conference report by the house and is now ready for President Wilson's signature.

9,929 NATURALIZATIONS
Ottawa, March 3.—Certificates of naturalization and of re-admission to British nationality were granted to 9,929 people during the fiscal year. The number included 417 Austrians, 42 Germans, 246 Poles, 170 Belgians, 107 Japanese, 496 Norwegians, 1,193 Russians and 5,192 Americans.

ARRANGE FOR HUN VESSELS

Paris, March 3.—Representatives of Great Britain, the United States, France and of other powers, have departed for Spa to complete with the Germans arrangements for the release of German ships in German ports and certain German vessels in neutral ports.

Virtually all the details of the vessels have been arranged and it is anticipated that they will be turned over under the agreement without delay.

The Park Valley school re-opened two weeks ago. The attendance is reported—good.

There was little business before the village council last Thursday. Several accounts were ordered paid.

The village financial statement was handed to the press late Tuesday afternoon. It will be published next week.

..You can save money by buying your pork from Parcels and Foxwell, and have same made up in toto bacon..

Messrs Coe Bros inform us that a 25 reduction is now effective on the price of Fordson tractors.

Your assistance is asked in order to get our subscription list corrected there are a number of persons entitled to the Chauvin Chronicle—and we have no means of getting price who.

MRS. ARMOUR ELECTED DIRECTOR OFFAIRS AND INSTITUTES ASSOCIATION

A splendid convention is reported regarding the annual gathering at Calgary of the Fairs and Institutes Association. Plenty of enthusiasm prevailed concerning this coming years work and program.

J. F. Day, of Red Deer, well known all over the province was made president to succeed E. L. Richardson, of Calgary, who retired this year. There were two or three women delegates this year, and one of them, Mrs. Armour, of Chauvin, headed the list with the greatest number of votes in the election of directors. H. Huxley, of Fram, of Calgary was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The directors included E. L. Richardson, of Calgary; H. McIntosh, Macleod; John Wilson, of Innisfail; R. Oates, of Oyen; Wm. Robertson, of Stony Plain; J. S. Scriegley, of Griffen Creek; and J. J. Bell, of Invermay.

A new schedule to make the prize lists more uniform was submitted and passed by the convention.

WESTMINSTER LADIES AUXILIARY MEETING

A meeting of these Westminster Ladies will hold a meeting on Thursday, March 13th at the home of Mrs. Herbold.

All ladies are cordially invited to attend.

GET YOUR SEED WHEAT EARLY

Farmers would be advised to get their seed wheat as early as possible from the elevator as it may be shipped out to some other point that may be in need of seed.

Elevator shipped a carload of No. 3 wheat to Irma this week for seed.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY IN CHAUVIN

Monday evening Mr. Follier closed his store, as usual, locking both back and front doors. Later at the whist drive, he was asked to obtain more playing cards. On his arrival at the whist drive, he found it open, and within, found a man, who stated he had found the back door open and had walked in.

KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

There will be no more complaints now, we hope, regarding banking hours—C. L. Rickard has sent his watch (so well known from coast to coast) to be repaired—meanwhile, on the best authority, we learn the bank has purchased a "Big Ben" alarm clock; also a big office clock.

WESTMINSTER AUXILIARY ELECT OFFICERS

The ladies of the Westminster Auxiliary held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Feb. 24th. The business was disposed of, the following officers were elected—

President: Mrs. J. C. Anderson
Vice-Pres. Mrs. C. G. Porryan,
Sec-Treas. Mrs. H. G. Foltkins.

JOHN WRIGHT TAKEN TO EDMONTON TO UNDERGO OPERATION

John Wright was taken to Edmonton for an operation. His condition is serious and he has to undergo an operation.

The attendance at the Fram school during the first two weeks has been well maintained despite the cold.

HAIL INSURANCE DEFEATED IN MERTON MUNICIPALITY

The result of the voting by Merton ratepayers on the Hail Insurance By-law showed a majority against the Hail Insurance of eleven. The number of votes for was 23 against 49.

This represents perhaps one quarter of the votes of the District. Doubtless the cold weather had much to do with the poor turnout.

At the nomination and rate-payers meeting held a week previous, Bert Cameron was elected councillor for Division No. 6; Bert Reynolds for Division No. 1; R. Mackay went back as Councillor for Division No. 2. All three Councillors went in by acclamation.

The date of the first Council meeting is March, 6th, in Winona School House at 2 p.m.

RIBSTONE ELECTION RESULTS

MUNICIPAL ELECTION 1919
RESULTS OF POLL

In favor of Hail Insurance, 20
Against Hail Insurance 54. Making a total against of 34.

Election for Councillor in Division No. 5. E. N. Evans, 11; R. Tennant, 10.

Owing to three voters having been allowed to vote who had not paid their arrears of taxes to the end of 1917, the Municipal Districts Act, the election in Division No. 5 is therefore declared to be invalid.

A. NACHTERGAULE,
Returning Officer

CHAUVIN STOCK SHIPMENTS

The local U.G. elevator shipped 2 cars of cattle to Edmonton, last week and a car of 83 hogs on Feb. 10th, the cattle netted the owners $2350, an average of $124.10 each, while the car of hogs brought $125.00.

These shipments mark the beginning of the Company's new method of handling the farmers hogs and live stock.

In the past, their local agents have been selling hogs, but in future, these like the cattle, will be handled on the co-operative or consignment plan.

The method is, in the case of cattle, to mark each farmer's stock so that it will be readily identified at the other end. In this way a number of farmers can have their cattle in the same car and the man with one steer can ship as cheap as his neighbour who may have ten or twenty head.

In the case of hogs, they are graded at the point of shipment and the owner is paid according to grade. Less of course freight cost.

The car of hogs mentioned above may be taken for an example of what this method means to the farmer. They sold in Edmonton for 15 3-4 cts per lb, and netted the owners 13 cts here.

NELS MALIN TRAGIC DEATH

The death of Nels Malin was of extremely tragic nature. He passed away under a paralytic stroke. Alone when seized never regaining consciousness. He was discovered by Pete Sorken, who called to take him to the municipal election. Pete knocked at the closed door, and receiving no answer, after a while broke in, and found the deceased unconscious. Help was summoned, but without avail, the unfortunate man never regained consciousness, and passed to the Great Beyond.

The funeral was conducted Sunday from the Lutheran church.

Divine service will be held at Killbuck March 9th and 23rd.
-lele. March 16th and 20th.

CATTLE COMING THROUGH COLD SPELL IN GOOD SHAPE

The past two weeks have been hard upon the stock. The summary of reports received at this office indicate that the animals are coming through in good shape.

URGE REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS

London, March, 1.—Merchants and manufacturers yesterday urged the removal of all restrictions on imports and exports between the United Kingdom and the Dominions, thus allowing the same freedom as before the war. They also called on the government to declare its policy regarding the encouragement of trade and commerce. Several speakers spoke upon hampering business between Great Britain and the Dominions through the present restriction of cable facilities.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SASK. HIGHWAYS

Charles W. Dill, of Winnipeg, has been appointed to the position of superintendent of highways of the provincial government with charge of the field staff.

ALBERTA W.S.S. CAMPAIGN

Every school, store, wholesale house, elevator, railway station, retailer, hotel, eating house, factory, workshop, municipal office, provincial office, Dominion office, in fact every place in Alberta, will soon be a selling agency for Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps if the plans of the Campaign Organizers do not fall through. People are getting to know what Thrift Stamps mean, and a demand for them is springing in every quarter as it is realized that not only do they provide an easy means for profitable saving but they assist in furnishing employment for returned soldiers and to aid Canada to finance her own operations.

IN THE INTERESTS OF A BETTER STOCK

Believing that the backbone of the wealth of this country is in its live stock and that in this respect whatever benefits one is to the benefit of all, The Imperial Lumber Co. Ltd. have at a cost of five hundred dollars, secured the local rights of distribution of "The Veterinarian" a most thoroughly up to date book dealing with the different diseases which affect every kind of live stock and the treatment for each disease.

It is a book of 256 pages written and copyrighted by Dr. Chas. Kormick, one of the best known veterinarians in the United States, and former State Veterinary Surgeon for Oregon State Veterinary Medical Board and Hon. Member, Ontario Veterinary Medical Association.

It is written in plain language and is divided into six sections dealing with horses, cattle, swine, sheep and goats poultry and miscellaneous.

It contains over one thousand reliable prescriptions and treatment for the diseases of domestic animals and was published to sell at $2.50, but after looking through a copy which was shown, the Imperial Lbr. Co. Ltd. believing that this was a work which should be in the hands of every man interested in live stock of any kind secured the entire rights for the Chauvin district and are giving a copy free to each of their customers. As the book is a valuable one to have we would advise a call in at their offices to secure a copy while they last.

TO CALL CONFERENCE ON FIXED GRAIN PRICES

It is unlikely that an open grain market will be established for some little time according to the report which Dr. Magill and James Fisher, the Winnipeg Grain Exchange representatives, presented to that body on their return from the old country. The grain question is now being studied by a new commission composed of representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, and the United States. Winnipeg Exchange went on record as favoring the abolition of government control of prices, and is desirous of having a conference of representatives of the Canadian exchanges.

$3,355 MEN WERE RAISED UNDER THE M. S. ACT

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The number of men raised under the Military Service act totalled $3,355, Sir James Loughheed, government leader, informed the senate today. In addition, there were on leave without pay under the order-in-council relating to compassionate and hardship cases, or subsequently discharged, 24,933 men, while the number struck off the strength or liable only to non-combatant service, either as conscientious objectors or by reason of the War Times Elections act, was 16,350.

The number of those raised by compulsory military service law who went to the front was not available. Sir James said, but the number sent overseas was 475,209.

MANY SALOONS TO BE CLOSED

More than 29,000 licensed drinking places in the six "wet" states of the central west—Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Kentucky, and Ohio—are to go out of existence four months from today if the United States abolishes liquor traffic, for the first time in history, under the president's war-time prohibition order.

by's attitude to Western life is that she accepted it as a dispensation of Providence—of Providence with quite a sincere and genuine large capital P—but it was an acceptance that varied with the circumstances of the moment between a cheerful resignation and a reminiscent regret of the material comforts and social advantages of her childhood. Though the loneliness and household drudgery of the earlier days had robbed her cheeks of their bloom and dulled the vivacity of her spirits, large compensations had come in later years from her children. So narrow and conservative is the sphere in which the character of the womanly and motherly type of woman develops, that it is probable that in all essentials Mrs. Enderby would have been the same at fifty if she had married a curate on a hundred and twenty pounds a year in a big city, and had lived in middle age to the comparative luxury of a small country living. It should not have been a matter of offence to her Canadian neighbours that Mrs. Enderby remained so steadfastly English, for it was not the expression of any conscious sense of superiority or of a desire to be un-neighbourly—she simply was herself.

Of the children, Marion, the eldest, developed early a fair measure of the capacity to run the house which rarely comes adequately to any but the Western born; Bert, two years younger, was in reality now what his father used to call him as a little boy when he followed him about the farm, his 'right-hand man'—a little too serious, a little too quiet for six-and-twenty, but that was the price which the West exacts of most of her sons who take a farmer's life seriously. Daisy,—the 'baby' of the family, now twenty, was Daisy—a secret joy to her mother from her liveliness and high spirits—but a joy tempered by regret that Daisy rarely thought before speaking, and rarely spoke without shocking her mother either by irreverent aptness of her adaptation of her scriptural knowledge to very peculiar circumstances, or the facility with which she picked up indiscriminately the colloquialisms of the West, the East-end drone of a Barnardo chore boy, or the public school slang of the moment from her father's farm pupils and the other young Englishmen who were 'making good' or otherwise on a farm of their own in the settlement. Of course Daisy was spoilt—it is the privilege and penalty of the 'baby' in a good many families—but a spoiling which is the result of a mother's unselfishness and a too tender love, is not the worst kind of spoiling in a world where remain sufficient harsh realities to prevent even the spoilt children of earth from finding a too satisfying happiness in the dulcified 'quid domum.'

important factor in the creation of national wealth, was the prediction of H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture for Alberta, in speaking before the joint meeting of the conventions of Dairymen and the Alberta Agricultural Fairs, at the Fallisier, in Calgary Wednesday night.

Grain, which in the past years of the war has advanced to a price never before known, was now on the down grade, owing to the vast stores of wheat and other cereals in Australia, New Zealand, and other grain producing countries, but dairy products would continue to hold their value in the market.

If the burdens entailed in Canada by the war were to be carried and eventually paid off, the natural resources of the country must be exploited to the utmost, and the dairy for Alberta, would do as much for the rest of Canada.

Production, insisted, Mr. Craig would do more for Canada than trade in boot or any other such commodity. The man who got together a herd of the best dairy cows will be the man who gets ahead in the coming years.

GERMANY'S ARMY TO BE REDUCED TO 200,000 MEN

Paris, March 2.—(Associated Press)—Marshal Foch on Saturday presented to the council of the great powers the military terms to be incorporated into the peace treaty. These will be considered on Monday by the naval terms already submitted to the council. The military terms provide for the disarmament of Germany down to 20 divisions of 10,000 men each, including 15 divisions of infantry and five of cavalry. Severe restrictions are placed on the manufacture of all classes of war materials and the military and commercial use of the airplane is limited to the minimum.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong and of

PRAYER

We thank Thee, O Lord, for our home and our country, for our brave men who fight our battles. May they be strong and of good courage and trust in Thee for victory. Be with them as Thou wast with Joshua the great captain of old. Help us to be strong in temptation and difficulties and to trust in Jesus the Captain of our Salvation. This we ask for his 'sake.

"I WILL BE A HERO"

So spoke Horatio Nelson to himself
one day on board the Seahorse, waiting in Indian waters. He was still only a midshipman. The climate had so ruined his health and the difficulties before him so great that he wished himself overboard. Then came the moment, of which he loved to speak ever afterwards, when he exclaimed,
"I will be a hero and confiding in God, brave every danger." What words can describe Nelson's bravery in every battle which he fought. In his last sea-fight off Cape Trafalgar, he sent up the famous signal, "England expects every man will do his duty." He himself stood on the deck of his flagship, Victory, heedless of danger until he was shot down. His last words were, "Now, I am satisfied. Thank God, I have done my duty."

When it easy to grow potatoes on board ship?—When its a grove.

HOW A SULTAN FOUND
AN HONEST MAN

A Sultan wanted to find an honest man to collect the taxes of his realm, but he did not know where to go for such a man, so he consulted a wise councillor, who advised him to publish abroad his need, and then to invite all the applicants to his palace on a certain night to be arranged.

"I will show you an honest officer when you ask them to dance," said the wise man.

The applicants arrived at the palace in due course, when they were told by the officer of the Court that they were to advance to the sultan, one at a time
through a dark and empty corridor.
As soon as they were all assembled before the throne, the Sultan said amiably.

"Gentlemen, I should very much like to see you dance. Please dance."
But all the applicants refused, with many blushes except one man, who danced cheerfully and well.

"That is the honest man," said the sage, pointing to the dancer.

In the dark corridor the wise man had placed sacks of money, and all pockets as they had passed through
to advance to the Sultan, one at a time
pockets as they had passed through money-bags being shaken, and so they had refused.

THE KNIGHT AND THE
WONDERFUL STONE

A brave English knight in the Holy Land was captured by the Saracens and thrown into a dungeon to die. But a nightingale came and perched on the window of the dungeon, and cheered the knight with her song; and the knight fed her with some of his scanty food, and made a pet of her. He used to talk to her as if she were a human being, and one day he said.

"Ah, sweet bird! If only you could help me to escape!"

The nightingale at once flew away, and as she did not return for three days the knight thought she had been killed by some hawk. But on the night of the third day she flew back into the dark dungeon once again, carrying in her beak a strange stone. The knight took the stone, and by accident, touched his fetters with it, and to his astonishment and delight they fell off. He then went to the dungeon door, and touched that also with the magic stone, and the door opened.

The knight lost no time in leaving his prison, and he managed to escape to England, to which country the nightingale followed him. There the knight showed his gratitude to his feathered friend by building her a golden cage, with an open door, in the garden of his castle.

Irishman: "Tell me how many oranges I have in my hand and I will give you the whole six of them if you succeed right."

Englishman: "Six of course!"
Irishman: "Well, I've had luck to the man who told you!"

THE OLD SCEPTIC

I am weary of disbelieving: why
—why should I waste my life
To pleasure a sophist's pride in a graven image of truth:

I will go back to my home with the clouds and the stars above,
And the heaven I used to know, and the God of my buried youth.

I will go back to my home and look at the wayside flowers,
And hear from the wayside cabins the old sweet hymns again,

Where Christ holds out His arms in the quiet evening hours.

And the light of the chapel porch
broods on the peaceful lane.
And there I shall hear men praying
the deep old foolish prayers,

And there I shall see once more the fond old faith confessed.

And the strange old light on their faces who hear as a blind man hears—

Come unto me ye weary, and I will bring you rest
I will go back and believe in the deep
old foolish tales,

And pray the sweet old prayers that
I learned at my mother's knees.
Where the Sabbath toils its peace thro'
the breathless mountain vales.

And the sunsets evening hymn hallows the western sea.

A Manitoba Spring
"What a beautiful spring—if it is spring," grumbled Daisy Enderby, as she flattened the tip of her nose against the window-pane of the "living-room" at the Dingle, and looked disconsolately at the mingled snow and slush which lay around the verandah, and which was all of the outside world that a steady drizzle left visible at five o'clock of the afternoon in the end of April.

"Why do you say 'if it is spring'?" Of course it is spring—to-morrow is the Second Sunday after Easter—
"What would it be if it wasn't spring?" Easter and spring are the same thing—light the lamp, child, and help me to finish this mending," and Marion Enderby pointed to a large heap of socks, stockings, and other garments which had not been particularised, with which the table was covered.
"Mother says," she continued, "they always had primroses and violets at home on Easter day, and how could they have primroses if it wasn't spring?" with which quite conclusive argument she resumed her work.

"That's all very well, I daresay, in the 'Old Country,'" Marion, retorted Daisy, making a final move of disgust at the weather outside before joining her sister at the table, "that's all very well, for where 'April showers bring forth May flowers,' and 'Hark! Hark! the lark,'" and so forth and so on—spring may be spring, and come in some particular time with some particular herald—the cuckoo, for instance—in that 'happy land,' I wonder!" the week before Easter was so hot that our Barnardo pet said when he came in from the chores that he was all in a "muck—"

"Stop, Daisy—I insist—you shall not repeat the kind of expressions that bay uses—you know how mother objects!"

"Well, you know what he said, Marion, and it was quite true, and I saw a mosquito myself almost as big as a dragon-fly—"

"Don't be so ridiculous, Daisy, I know it was very warm then—"
"Very warm," and the next Sunday Mr. Jordan came up to take our service in a snow-storm, and it was a foot deep by night, and all this week we have had hot days—cold days—and drizzle days alternately—but if you insist to the name—like Barker—"Bn willin'" and spring let it be."

"But seriously, Daisy, if you can be serious, I do hope we shall have some dry weather soon—for Bert says it will be a week before they can get on the land, and you know how little ploughing they did last Fall owing to the early frost, and it will make them dreadfully busy when they are able to begin—besides, we must try to do some spring cleaning."

"Why should we do spring cleaning 'if it wasn't have any spring'?" retorted Daisy testingly. "I don't pretend, when the fine weather comes, if it does come, that it's summer, and that the spring cleaning is all done—"

"I think Daisy Enderby, if you look at the curtains on the windows and the color of the whitewash on the walls and the dust on the pictures and books, even you can't pretend the spring cleaning—wet or fine, we must begin on Monday, so that Bert can help with the whitewashing before the old weather work begins."

"Oh, I know it's 'needs must when'—when you speak like that—I only hope Dad will be busy in the granary or some other where while we do it because he's—quite rested and when he's agricultural duty to be done—to be done," and he cannot be doing it from 'dewy morn' to milking cows while we are waiting for our supper!"

"I don't like to hear you speak in that flippant manner of your father, Daisy, if you know how long and hard he had to work when I was a little girl and you weren't born, or only little more than a baby, you would understand how anxious he gets even now, when we are rather better off. If there is any set back on the farm—Come, Merry dear, don't be so sorry you know I was only joking, and there is Dad coming in from the stables—and the dear man is as like a Manitoba spring as Santa Claus is to Christmas, for the aizzle is turning to snow and he is mud to the knees, and snow to his crown, and his face is as bright and rosy with it all as a midsummer plump—he will wait his supper before we have time to boil the kettle and set the table, so we'd better 'rustle'—with which objectionable last word I say started to sweep the contents of the table into a large basket as a preliminary step to preparing the evening meal."

While the two sisters were thus engaged, we will take a slight glance at the other members of the "Dingle" household. Their father, the younger son of a Leicestershire squire, of old family but small estate, finding himself at three-and-twenty with a patrimony of a few thousand pounds, an optimistic disposition, and no particular calling in life so long as he spent in the open air, took to himself a wife. The young couple had grown up together—he at the Hall and she at the rectory—and if it was very worldly-wise the young folks had mutual love which, perhaps after all is the highest wisdom—in any case it seemed nobody's business to make difficulties. William Enderby was his own master; and so long as they did not forget to put the "Times" by his plate at breakfast and did not touch the litter of papers on his study table the old Rector was quite content for his motherless daughters to settle any smaller matters, such as matrimony, to suit themselves.

Being happily married—what next? The rumours of the boundless possibilities of the Great West penetrated even to the rural parts of Leicestershire at the right moment, and offered and ideal solution of the problem—an estate—a patrimony—where the old Enderby stock could quite new root a new land and develop a worthy branch of the old Leicestershire tree. The promise to the imagination had not been very literally fulfilled in the reality, and Mr and Mrs Enderby had shared to the full all the hardships and disappointments inevitable to the sudden change from settled domestic and social conditions of the old land to the condition of life in a newly opened up settlement on its prairies of the West.

The small capital of money was rapidly diminished in the acquisition of that most costly commodity—experience—and then followed a long period of struggle against early frosts dry seasons and other visitations of nature, which so often seem sent to test the endurance of the pioneers in a new land. As the newly money went there came, of course, all the unrelenting of such seasons—land mortgages, chattel mortgages, lien notes—the costly price of continuing the struggle till better times came.

They came at last, not only in the shape of good crops and a higher price for wheat, but also in the form of a legacy of a thousand pounds from a maiden aunt of Mrs. Enderby, which paid off all but a small mortgage on a quarter section of bush and meadow land which Mr Enderby had bought in the name of their only son,

Bert, the week after he was christened at Berrard, Bainton-Enderby.

Though the money capital slipped away so easily in the early days, happily the larger capital of mutual love and confidence in the future remained, and if his friends may have had misgivings as to his truth, they never doubted Mr. Enderby's sincerity in maintaining that the two wisest things he ever did were to marry his wife and to homestead the 'Dingle' and as he shakes off the wet snow from his coat and takes off his muddy boots in the 'kitchen'-to-night, he has no greater anxiety than as to whether it would not be better to sow oats instead of wheat in the north ten-acre field if the weather does not let up by the beginning of the week.

In the West as elsewhere, where life is largely a struggle for existence the heavier portion of the primeval burden of life falls on the wife rather than on the husband. Perhaps the most that can be said of Mrs. Ender-

DEVELOPMENT OF STOCK

INDUSTRY IN ALBERTA

BY W. P. STEVENS,
LIVE STOCK COMMISSIONER.
The activities of the Live Stock Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture have been and still are directed along two general lines—educational and direct assistance.

The educational work of this Branch comprises instruction as to the necessity of growing live stock of some kind, the class of stock best suited to particular districts, the importance of using good sires and the proper methods of feeding and housing in order to secure the desired results.

This Branch recognizes the utility of a "flat" system of live stock education. For this reason it emphasizes the advantages to be derived from keeping a flock of sheep on a grain farm in the semi-arid districts, and puts the "soft pedal" on dairying and avine growing. In the long run country, it directs attention to the importance of dairying and avine growing and says less about wool production. By this means it is able to prevent a waste of energy and loss of time and money that must result from an attempt to pursue a line of production to which a district is not suited. This work is furthered by the agricultural schools, and the short course schools that are put on by the Fairs and Institutes Branch.

Under the heading of direct assistance are included furthering the establishing of open competitive live movement of live stock to these market markets; advice and aid in the kets; guaranteeing loans to settlers for the purchase of live stock; and the clearing of conditions under which stock raising can be carried on more successfully than is possible at the present time.

The Alberta Live Stock Branch believes that just as a keen and healthy appetite depends on the absence of any suggestion of constipation, so a thriving live stock business requires a free and untrammelled marketing system. It believes that unnecessary delays in transit and the absence of competition at marketing centres tend to negative the work of promotion. For this reason it has devoted and still devotes a great deal of attention to assisting shippers in securing a proper service at the hands of transportation companies and it has always identified itself with every movement looking toward the establishment of free and open live stock markets. It does not undertake to ship and sell for the farmer, but it does undertake to assist farmers by suggestion, advice and personal intercession with railway officials in their effort at shipping and selling for themselves and to protect them against interference on the part of those who are interested in discouraging the Live Stock Encouragement Act of Alberta, loans aggregating half a million dollars were made to settlers in 1917 on the guarantee of the province. A similar amount was guaranteed in the year 1918.

With a view to expanding the stock growing business of this province, the Live Stock Branch has, for a number of years, been directing attention to three important facts, namely: the insufficiency of the quarter section farm for mixed farming purposes, the impossibility of marketing farm products at a greater distance than thirty miles from a line of railway, and the advantages that would result from such an administration of remote areas as would result in specialized and systematic live stock production.

The settler whose operations are restricted to 160 acres can never become a stock grower of consequence because he will need to harvest at least 100 acres of crop each year to maintain his equipment. He will require 20 to 30 acres of land for each year, and the remaining 20 acres will be needed to supply pasture for his work horses and a family cow. So long as he can pasture a few head of stock on unoccupied land in the vicinity he can get along, but just as soon as this is taken, he is done so far as stock growing is concerned. If he is able to own a 160-111 all it, it will in most cases be a cheap one, and that means that it will as a rule be either a grade or a scrub pure bred. In either case what little stock he produces is likely to be below par. Hence some system is necessary whereby settlers can acquire at least one half section of land in order that they may be able to maintain enough cows to justify them in purchasing a good bull. When they can do that they can become producers of more live stock and in most cases will become producers of better live stock.

At a conservative estimate there are 50,000 sections of land lying more than 20 miles from a line of railway in northern Alberta yet within the limits of possible live stock production. It will produce on an average at least eight mature cattle per year on each section, which at 25 per cent less than present prices would make a total of thirty million dollars worth of beef per year from lands which now yield practically nothing. There are thousands of small stockmen in the Inter-Mountain states who are eagerly looking for just such propositions. They understand growing live stock under the conditions existing here and have exactly the kind of cattle that are suited to these conditions to stock up with. What they ask for is the use of an area sufficiently large to make possible carrying on operations at long distances from a railway; a tenure to last until transportation facilities are brought within thirty miles of them, and the right to acquire at a fixed price an area sufficiently large to maintain buildings that they must erect in order to operate as stockmen.

What is wanting is a system permitting the use of what is now going to waste. The Alberta Live Stock Branch is directing attention to the need of such a system.

To Solve Canada's Employment Problem

EVERYONE in Canada should understand just what the Government is doing to solve the unemployment problems that may arise through the demobilization of our fighting forces.

(1) Employment Offices.

So that everyone—male or female, soldier or civilian—can get quickly such jobs as are available the Government is co-operating with the Provinces in establishing a chain of Public Employment Offices. Employers are being urged to make use of these offices to secure any help they need. Farmers, for example, who need hired men should apply to the nearest office. There will be a Public Employment Office in every town of 10,000 people—and wherever the need for one exists. There will be 60 different offices in all—one-half are already in operation.

(2) Employment Opportunities.

The war held up much work that will now be carried on at once. Public works, shipbuilding, roadbuilding, railway work—construction of bridges, improvement of road-bed, making of new equipment—these will provide new opportunities for employment. In addition, the Government has sent a Trade Mission overseas to secure for Canada a share in the business of providing materials and products required for reconstruction work in Europe. It has also set aside the large sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned through the Provinces to encourage the building of workmen's houses. This will mean much new work in the spring.

(3) Land and Loans for Soldiers

To help soldiers become farmers the Government has developed a programme that includes the providing of land, the granting of loans, and the training and supervision of those inexperienced in farming. At present, the soldier is granted, free, in addition to his ordinary homestead right, one quarter-section of Dominion lands. He also receives a loan up to the maximum of $2,500.

These original plans are now being broadened. If Parliament passes the new proposals during this session, the Soldier Settlement Board will be able to buy suitable land and re-sell it to the soldier at cost.

Land up to the value of $5,000 may be bought by this plan—the money to be repaid in 20 years. The low interest rate of 5 per cent. will be charged. These new proposals will also permit the Soldier Settlement Board to loan the soldier-farmer up to $2,500 for purchasing equipment, etc., in addition to $5,000 loan on his farm.

ARTLAND NOTES

On the 20th of February, the case of Marquardt versus Swartbrick and Wright came up for hearing before
Mr. D. Dunsley, J.P., at Wilkie.

Judgement resulted in both the defendants being penalized for infringement of the Elections Act, in their capacities respectively of Returning Officer and Deputy at the recent Manitoul Municipal Election—The penalty for the Returning Officer was $3, and for the Deputy, $200.

The costs of the action were compromised.

We learn that an appeal has been lodged, and will be taken by the District Court Judge at the next sitting at Scott.

This matter being now "Sub Judge" comment is held over for the present.

Mrs. Jones has left Artland after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ernes Reichelt.

Mr. Ralph Storie has arrived on a short visit.

The contributions to the Veterans Testimonial Fund continue to come in most satisfactorily.

This cold snap, we are suffering from has somewhat interfered with the holding of Committee meetings, but we hope at an early date to publish another list of contributors giving the totals in hand.

We may mention that among the latest subscribers are the Canadian Lumber Co. and the Security Elevator.

This unwelcome visitor now inflicting his presence upon us—"Mr. Forty-below-zero times his arrival with these gloving pictures and posters of Khaki clad damsels of beauty gazing on endless rows of future vegetables shivering. We may admire those lovely pictures and indulge in the "pleasure of hope" which represents about all the fun we get out of the "count" sometimes.

We would remind our numerous readers that this great newly revised Journal has determined to be completely up to date.

At any rate no judge after surveying with admiration the zoological specimens of strange beasts now adorning its pages.

Without of course any reflection on the artist, one is irresistibly reminded of the window contained in the advice of adding the inscription "This is a cow," budding artistic genius was impulsed to remember! Doubt was thus removed.

Bravo! Prosperity—"Happy the country that has no history"—happier still, the district that has no news!
These imperious Ceasars of the Press with their haughty demand for news that does not exist, want "Calling down."

As an oppressed slave of the pen, oh,
Prosperity accept congratulations.
Fancy, no one ill, no one dying, all well—not even marrying! Happy Prosperity, what a land to live in!

Warsaw, March 2.—Negotiations at Lemberg between the Inter-Allied are about to be resumed, it is re-
